

SIC BO

Sic Bo literally means “dice pair,” but the game is actually played with three dice.

HOW TO PLAY

The ancient Chinese game of Sic Bo is played with three six-sided dice. It is much like Roulette, because the object is simply to predict which numbers will appear on the faces of dice after they have been shaken.

Basic wagers include betting on a specific number, 1 through 6, or on an exact total, 4 through 17. Some bets, such as Big and Small, pay even money (1-to-1), while correctly predicting a “Three of a Kind,” which is all three dice showing the same number, yields a payout as high as 150-to-1. Lights under the translucent surface of the Sic Bo betting layout show what wagers have won.

THE SIC BO BETS

Total The easiest bet on the Sic Bo board is the bet on the three dice total. This ranges from 4 to 17 (3 and 18 are covered by Triple 1 and Triple 6). The payouts on each of these bets differs, based of the probability of each score occurring.

Small and Big You can bet on the total of the three dice being Small, dice totals from 4 to 10, or Big, dice totals from 11 to 17. The payout on Big and Small is 1 to 1.

Combination The Combination bet is a bet on any two specific numbers showing on the three dice. For example, you could bet on a Combination of 4 and 6, which would win if the three dice show 3, 4, 6. The payout on a Combination bet is 5 to 1, regardless of which combination you bet on.

One of a Kind The One of a Kind bet is a bet that a specific number will show on any of the three dice. The payout on a Single bet depends on how many occurrences of the chosen number turn up on the three dice.

Two of a Kind The Two of a Kind bet is a bet that two of a specific number will show on the three dice. You can bet on any Two of a Kind from 1 to 6, and the payout is 8 to 1.

Three of a Kind The Three of a Kind bet is a bet that all three dice will show a specific number. You can bet on any specific Three of a Kind from 1 to 6 and also bet that Any Three of a Kind will occur.

Any 3 of 4 Bet You can bet on the following 4 number combinations, (6543), (6532), (5432), and (4321), and if 3 of the 4 numbers appear on the dice the payout is 7 to 1.

Even and Odd You can bet on the total of the three dice being Even, dice totals: 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 or 16, or Odd, dice totals: 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15 or 17. The payout on Even and Odd is 1 to 1.
